We Have A Program Too

The oldest idea under the sun is despotism, under all its names, including the ones currently used to describe despotism in Russian Communist party's third statement of intentions since 1903. This is like a party platform in U.S. politics-a place to stand when people are asking questions. The newest one, being made ready for official adoption in October, says socialism in Russia stands for peace, prosperity, freedom, equality and world domination. It is expected to produce a heady reaction among Russians who take it literally, and it probably will do just that.

Capitalism, it points out, is dying. Socialism is growing; capitalism is shrinking. Socialism's program in the years ahead is to knock off capitalism and replace it with socialism. This is the kind of talk that gives us Americans the willies-and it should. But it shouldn't choke us up to the point of losing our voices. We have a program too.

the doctrine of a divine right of kings. In the second part, which is now in progress, we aim to destroy the doctrine of an absolute right of dictators.

Our belief in capitalism doesn't have much to do with this, actually. We hang onto capitalism because no other way ever has been devised to liberate men from political despotism. For Americans, the most significant thing about capitalism is its adaptability to their aims. Capitalism keeps growing.

It is nothing like the capitalism of the 19th century and hardly recognizable as the successor to the capitalism of the first third of the 20th century. Moreover, the capitalism of the 21st century will bear no resemblance to that of the present. Capitalism is a free system, like the people who employ it in behalf of their own freedom.

THIS IS SOMETHING a doctrinaire of despotism, by whatever name it's called, cannot understand. Many Americans cannot understand it; they think capitalism is a static system, instead of a dynamic concept of freedom. They out-rival the socialists in spouting a theory of capitalism, instead of explaining its practice.

Fortunately we capitalists have a program for the future, too.

We're going to keep giving free people a chance to live better while enslaved people get a bellyful of absolutism.

De Gaulle Will Not Be Pushed

There is no reason to be surprised by Gen. Charles de Gaulle's refusal to do business with the United Nations on the Bizerte issue. The Frenchman never has liked the United Nations. He doesn't like it now.

He will have his eye fixed on the United States, moreover, because the only difference between France's situation in Tunisia and this country's situation in Cuba is that trouble has started in Tunisia and is still being postponed in Cuba. But it's

The Tunisians were not content to let well enough alone. They attacked the Bizerte base. The Cubans will not be content to settle for the indefinite occupation of the U.S. naval station at Guantanamo, either. Their president, Fidel Castro, is inflaming the issue in every public speech he makes.

Eventually, Cubans will attack Guantanamo. The United States will fight back. Cuba will run to the United Nations for protection against "Yankee imperialism," exactly the same as Tunisia sought U.N. protection against French colonialism.

The United Nations, dominated by nations that have resented colonialism and by nations that never miss a chance to put a thum in the eye of the United States, Great Britain and France, will order a cease-fire at Guantanamo, exactly as it ordered a ase-fire at Bizert

It then will become a matter of the gravest importance that U.S. forces at Guantanamo struck back savagely at their Cuban attackers, mowing down half-trained Cuban militiamen with professional competence. This will tend to be additional proof of the "ruthlessness" and "heartlessness" of the United States. Cuba, Castro and the Communists will find themselves basking in a warm glow of international martyrdom.

When it happens, the United States will be furious. It will back away from the United Nations, showing its teeth. It will be

That's why the Italian government has been stalling on the issuance of traveling papers for Frankie Costello, who really never lost the title of prime minister of the American underworld.

Early last June the U.S. Immiasked the Italian government to forward documents which would permit the U.S. to deport Costello to Italy. The U.S. Embassy in Rome then contacted the proper Italian authorities. For almost two months that I know of, the Italian government politely considered the matter and probably will still be

It left them broke and secondrate in a new world dominated by the United States and Russia. In their moment of disaster they suddenly showed a common sense which had been unthinkable when they had muscle.

Soon after the war a French economist, Jean Monnet, had an idea. France and West Germany both had coal and iron ore. Why not pool their resources? Besides, it would bridge some of that ancient gulf between them.

It would certainly help economically. The idea appealed, too, to Italy, the Netherlands, Belgium, Luxembourg. So the six nations signed a treaty creating the Eu- to be considered. ropean Coal and Steel Commun-

The French Parliament, still afraid of a rearmed Germany, killed this notion. But the idea of cooperation among the six-called the Inner Six-was just starting. In 1957 they signed another turned into heroin in secret lab- treaty, called the European Economic Community or Common Market.

The six would trade freely among themselves, wiping out tariffs on each other's goods. A man in Rome could buy a German car for the same price he'd pay in Bonn.

Handling Of Tunisian Situation Questioned

IN EUROPE troops they had moved into the The world is witnessing in the city to repulse the attack. But the Tunisian government immediately sent its foreign minister to Cairo to arrange with the United Arab Republic for "volunteers" to help fight the French forces. This does not augur well for a negotiation in good faith. President Nasser has just announced that he is sending military equipment and supplies to the Tunisian armed forces but will the United Nations take cognizance of this obvious intervention by military

To run to Nasser, who has hitherto been hostile to the President of Tunisia, is strange indeed. For only three years ago Tunisia broke off diplomatic relations with the United Arab Republic and accused the latter of being involved in a plot to assassinate Bouguiba.

Another strange happening is recorded in a dispatch to the London Daily Telegraph from Rome, where it has just leaked out that the Tunisian government-before the Bizerte episode-concluded an agreement for new oil projects in Tunisia with Signor Mattei, the head of the Italian State Petroleum Co. This is the same individual who has been getting cut rates on oil from the Soviets in a maneuver that threatens to disrupt the whole price structure in oil throughout the world.

THE TUNISIAN government makes no secret of its desire to acquire a substantial share of the oil resources of the Sahara. It is widely believed that President Bourguiba saw a chance to enrich his country by making up with the Algerians, with whom he has hitherto been at loggerheads.

His action came at the very moment when France and Algeria, in peace negotiations at Evian-fes-Bains, were struggling with the problem of Sahara oil.

Shortly after the Bizerte crisis. three taks collapsed when the Algerians asked for an indefinite suspension, presumably to work out a deal with Tunisia.

So if there were a real inquiry into the whole Tunisian affair and the facts were given to the world, many high-sounding phrases in espousal of "self-determination" and "anti-colonialism" would turn out to be a cover for a materialistic quest.

The Soviets have their eyes on the exploitation of the Sahara's oil resources for their own purposes and will furnish money for development provided they can get a hold on certain African countries and start a series of moves that will adversely affect the com-EVERY MEDIATOR in any im- panies of the West which have oil pipelines and refineries in the Middle East.

THE MYSTERY of why Mr. Bourguiba has suddenly turned on his Western friends and provoked a quarrel with France is gradualintervention in the Bizerte affair ly being explained by what is happening in the grab for the Sahara's oil resourses. France has a treaty right to keep the Bizerte naval base until such time as a satisfactory agreement with Tunisia is achieved by direct negotiations.

The U.N. is neither a superanational body nor a superstate, and its usefulness as a peacemaker in the future will be enhanced only if it confines itself to the role of mediator and shuns partisanship.

One way to achieve that result is to send a special U.N. commission of at least three persons, appointed in each instance by the Security Council itself, to mediate. and not rely on one man, even if he is the secretary general.

They do not add that it also will revolutionize the tax structure based on sales of auto fuel and the economic structure based on the nationwide use of high-octane gas. But somehow that doesn't seem important to a motorist wedded to a car that lugs around a 20-gallon tank that must be filled every few days with premium gasoline. All that matters to him is the prospect of get-

It will burn a mixture of anything combustible and air-a very lean mixture, produced by a fuel injection system, instead of a carburetor. There will be no knock, no smoke and oodles of power. The men, who had admitted being involved in recent window breakings and phone booth robbings in the area, pleaded guilty to breaking windows at Zeigler's Market, south of Salem on Rt. 45. Another hearing was set for 10 a. m. Aug. 9, when other affidavits may be filed.

Entering pleas were Albert P. Schmauch, 19, James Dillon, 19, Thomas W. Earl, 22, and Luther N. Griggs, 19. All made $200 bonds except Griggs, who was returned to the County Jail at Lisbon.
